"Oh Celia, What Did I Kill That Woman For?" Negro Maid Swore Mrs. Carman Asked Her

Minneapolis, N. Y., Oct. 21. Celia, a negro maid in the Carman household and star witness for the state testified today at the trial of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, accused of the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, that Mrs. Carman had appeared, revolver in hand, a moment after Mrs. Bailey had been shot and said "I shot her."

"The next morning about day light Mrs. Carman came to my room," Celia continued. She said "Oh Celia, what did I kill that woman for? I hope God will forgive me. You stick to me and I will forgive you. You stick to me and I will forgive you."

"While I was washing the dishes Elizabeth, Mrs. Carman's daughter, came into the kitchen. Soon afterwards Mrs. Carman came in. She was dressed in kimono and had a shawl around her neck. She told Elizabeth to go back into the house. Then Mrs. Carman went out the back door. A minute later I heard a crash of glass and the report of a pistol. Mrs. Carman came in the door again. I was standing in the door between the pantry and the kitchen. She said to me 'I shot her.' Then she showed me a revolver, a black revolver that was about five inches long. I grabbed her by the arm and told her not to go into the office. She said she was not going to do anything else. Then I went into the office. Mrs. Carman came to my room. She was dressed in a nightgown. She said, 'Oh Celia, what did I kill that woman for? I hope God will forgive me. You stick to me and if anything happens to you I'll take care of your little boy.' "I saw Mrs. Carman later that morning at the breakfast table and she burst into tears. After breakfast she went to the kitchen and told me to forget that I had seen her the night before. Later that day Mrs. Carman came in with her lawyer, Mr. Levy. Mrs. Carman walked at me when he asked me what I knew. I told

"LICENSE THE DRINKER---NOT THE SALOON," CLELAND SUGGESTS

Cleveland, O., Oct. 21.—License the drinker—not the saloon. Revoke license in case of intoxication. Father or mother to approve application for license. Display license button from coat lapel. Suspend license for minor infractions of the law. These are some of the suggestions which form a plan to solve the wet and dry question made Chester A. Cleland, employee of a manufacturing concern of this city. "The liquor question then would be kept out of politics," he says. Under Cleland's plan a man who wanted to take a drink frequently or occasionally would have to make application for license. If the license was granted he would be presented with a button which he must wear on his coat. Police would be authorized to confiscate the license of any man found helplessly drunk. If only unsteady in his step his license would be revoked for a short period, as punishment.

OIL DECLARED CONTRABAND BY BRITAIN

Washington, D. C., October 21.—It was learned today that the British government had declared illuminating oil contraband but notification has not yet been sent to neutral countries. The British point of view is that illuminating oil can be used in the propelling of Zeppelins, submarines and destroyers and it was pointed out that within the past month there has been a significant increase in the amount of oil shipped from the U. S. to neutral countries as shown by the official reports. Even though cargoes are bound from one neutral port to another it is intimated that the British government will exercise greater vigilance now to prevent transshipment through other neutral countries of what it considers as munitions of war.

SHIPS FLYING STARS AND STRIPES SEIZED BY GREAT BRITAIN

Washington, Oct. 21.—The United States has protested to Great Britain against the seizure by a British warship, of the American Tank Steamer "John H. Rackett." This was announced today by Acting Secretary Lansing, of the state department. As the Rackett was an American flag and flew the American flag no change of registry was involved. The American government considers the seizure unauthorized. She had American officers and crew. The ship was bound from one neutral port to another leaving Philadelphia Sept. 27 for Copenhagen, carrying illuminating oil which Secretary Lansing said had not been classified as contraband in any notification received from Great Britain. The vessel was taken to the Orkney Islands.

Mr. Lansing said that no representations or protest had been made the Brindilla taken to Halifax and that he was waiting for further information as to the character of her cargo and the conditions under which she was seized. The protest was made to the British government through Ambassador Page at London, who was instructed to ask for the immediate release of the Rackett. As the cargo of the Brindilla was the same as the Rackett, the government's action today was taken for shadow another protest and demand for release, unless some difficulty in the Brindilla's registry not yet developed, comes up.

New York, Oct. 21. The Standard Oil Company Steamer Platuria flying the American flag has been seized by British warships off the coast of Scotland and taken into Stormway, a port in the Lewis Islands, according to a cablegram received here today by the company from her captain. The Standard Oil company has requested the state department to make another protest on the seizure of the Platuria which is identical, the company claims, with the circumstances attending the seizure of the Brindilla. The Platuria formerly the German Steamer Diamant changed her flag shortly before sailing from New York, Oct. 5.

REFUGEES BY THOUSANDS

London, Oct. 21 (5 a. m.)—Last Gladstone, former governor general of South Africa and his associates, who are directing the war refugees committee, regard the temporary assistance of the Belgians to the hospitality of the various English cities as merely an emergency work. More than 100,000 Belgians are already in England, and many more are being brought here. It is estimated that there are 50,000 in London.

Probably 100,000 Belgians in all are refugees in England, but many will have come home. Many of these, however, will soon be needed.

The boats from Flanders and Belgium are still bringing large numbers of Belgian refugees daily.

This here campaign is a hummer we'll have it admit. Yes, it's more than that—it's a "screacher" and a "howler" and a "screamer" and a "howler" and anything else that's fast, furious and flabbergastingly confusing. I don't mind "issues" coming at me in ones or twos, then I feel bound to 'em, but this here thing of "standing" out at a fellow in but a dozen or so is too damned much. I'm gonna quit and stick to the weather. Here's for tomorrow!

Home Rule Jottings

NO. 6

Read Chas. A. Wirmel's Home Rule speech to the working men. It's a plain speech, full of plain truths.

Hon. F. E. Lloyd of the Illinois Legislature will be at the Home Rule Tent Thursday evening. By all means hear this gifted speaker.

On Sunday, Peerless Homer Durand will speak at 2 P. M. and 8 P. M. We need not dwell upon Mr. Durand's ability as all those who have heard him will attest.

A speaker at the Dry Tent referred slightly to the fact that the Business Men's League only paid 2 per cent of the taxes of Scioto County. The Business Men's League consists of 250 men; these 250 pay 2 per cent and the other 43,250 people of this county pay 98 per cent. Quite a testimonial as to the substantiality of the organization. Thanks for the compliment.

Why is it that of the 39 counties in Ohio that show a decrease in population from 1900 to 1910, 23 are dry and only 10 are wet? And that of the 49 counties which show increase in population, 33 are wet and only 16 are dry? It would seem that Prohibition is not as attractive as pictured by the orators of the cause, and that the prosperous counties are those which do not dictate rules of conduct with a club.

We quote the following from the editorial column of the Cincinnati Enquirer of the 20th. It furnishes food for deep thought as to the limits to which reformers may go:

"At Newark the State Convention of the W. C. T. U. recently adopted resolutions condemning the use of tobacco in every form. Past performances indicate that this is merely the prelude to an appearance at Columbus with a bill prohibiting 'The Manufacture, sale or giving away' of the toothweed. Conceding that this second movement proves successful curiosity arouses as to what will come after it.—Who can say now in the presence of the modern trend toward paternalism what step will next be taken? Think all of this over, dear reader.

Read over these names: Judson Harmon, twice Governor of Ohio, former Attorney General of the United States; Lawrence Maxwell, former Solicitor General of the United States; George B. Oskey, prominent Constitutional Lawyer; Wade H. Ellis, former Attorney General of Ohio; William J. Day, former Federal Judge, Northern District of Ohio; John A. McMahon, known as the Nestor of the Ohio Bar; James E. Campbell, former Governor of Ohio; the firm of Milner, Miller & Saarl, Portsmouth, Timothy J. Hogan, Attorney General of Ohio.

Do they mean anything to you. Are they not synonymous with everything that stands for the highest and best in the legal profession in Ohio? Every one of these men has said this of the Home Rule Amendment: "It will repeal only the Rose County Option Law, and prevent Statewide prohibition except by vote of the people." It will not affect any other local option or any regulatory law on the statute books of Ohio."

Need there be anything more said as to the meaning of the amendment? As to its purpose—the operation of the Rose Law was disapproved by Scioto County by 1322 majority after a fair trial. Vote to be rid of it. Vote "YES" on Home Rule. Vote "NO" on Prohibition, a proven failure wherever tried.

Luke McLuke says: There are a lot of queer fish in the world. An Anti Liquor League was session in Columbus, and when a speaker announced that he intended to urge Congress to adopt nationwide Prohibition, there were joyous cheers and shouts of glad acclaim. Why? Because a few men who are fond of water hope to be able to make everybody drink nothing but water? Why can't about sixty million of us rough ricks get together in convention and petition Congress to compel all Prohibitionists to drink beer and make water juggling a felony? Wouldn't that be as fair as the Columbus scheme? If not, why not?

PA HAS TO THANK NEEWAH FOR KICKING HIM

What is the longest you month stay? Mrs. Carver Mrs. Carver replies:

TO THE GOOD, PATRIOTIC HOUSEWIVES OF PORTSMOUTH

Are you a patriot?
Of course, you are.
Do you want to help keep good times in America, which are threatened by the European war?
Of course you do.
Well, there is one way in which every one in Portsmouth can help and that is by buying cotton goods, and in fact buying American made goods all the time. And buy at home.

Owing to the great war that is now raging in Europe, the cotton growers of the south have had their largest market closed to them, and have on hand what is estimated at $900,000,000 worth of raw material.

It is not generally known,
but the United States consumes but 25 per cent of the cotton crop of this country, which furnishes 80 per cent of the entire cotton that is worked into the world's finished product.

The slogan "Buy a Bale" has resulted in many manufacturers and business men in purchasing heavily of the raw material. Armour & Co.,
the big meat packers of Chicago, recently purchased one consignment of 10,000 bales.
They have no use for it, but were actuated by patriotic motive. Other concerns have bought heavily.

Right here in Portsmouth,
the merchants and manufacturers have "Bought a Bale."
The Excelsior Shoe Co., has bought much cotton and had a bale on display during the recent Korn Carnival. The Marting Bros. Co., have ordered a bale and likewise the Samuel Levi Furniture Co.

Others will follow and the cotton raisers will probably be saved from a financial crisis.
That will help the whole country. It will help you. Portsmouth shoes and other Portsmouth products you know go largely to the south.

The citizens of Portsmouth do not have to buy a bale to help out. The good housewives can render valuable assistance right now by buying cotton goods to the exclusion of silks and satins.
They have absolutely no use for the raw material, but the finished product, such as sheetings, calicoes, percales, ginghams, etc., will always come in handy. And then the manufacturers of this country will be compelled to buy still heavier of the raw material should the good housewives lay in a supply of the finished product that will never come amiss.

CLEVELAND'S NOTED MAYOR IS AT THE CLUB TONIGHT

Hon. Newton Baker Is To Address Rally Of The Democrats

Hon. Newton Baker, mayor of Cleveland, who is to address a Democratic rally at "The Club" Wednesday evening, arrived in Portsmouth at noon Wednesday on the N. & W. from Hamilton, where he spoke to a large Democratic gathering Tuesday evening.

It was at the N. & W. depot by a quartet of local Democrats, Chairman Horace L. Small of the county committee, Postmaster Vallee Harold, David Stalker, county liquor license commissioner, and John Jones, candidate for county commissioner. From the depot he was driven to the Washington hotel, where he was a guest at luncheon.

After lunch, he was driven in the Stahler automobile on a sight-seeing trip of the city and adjacent country, the delegation which met him at the station accompanying him on the trip. Mayor Baker was shown all the points of interest about the city, and expressed surprise at the wonderful industrial growth which Portsmouth has attained.

During the afternoon he met a large number of the Democratic candidates and leaders, as well as several of the city's most prominent business men and citizens. Later in the afternoon, he was taken to his hotel, where he reported to his room to recuperate from his recent strenuous campaigning so as to be thoroughly rested for his meeting Wednesday evening.

Mayor Baker has traversed the entire length of the state to urge voters of Portsmouth and Scioto county to register a vote of confidence in the administration of President Woodrow Wilson and Governor Cox, with both of which he is in hearty accord. It is his first visit to the Peerless City, but his fame has preceded him, and will insure for him a monster crowd.

Mayor Baker will address a Democratic rally at "The Club" Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, which promises to be the biggest meeting of the campaign in Scioto county thus far. Renowned all over the nation as a "Champion of the People's Rights" in his home city of Cleveland, his words will no doubt carry weight with the multitude that will hear him. He is an outspoken admirer of Governor Cox, whose administration he will champion in Portsmouth Wednesday evening.

Mayor Baker will be introduced by Dr. S. S. Halderman, who will moderate as chairman of the meeting. He will be escorted from the hotel to the hall by a delegation of prominent Democrats from Portsmouth and Scioto county, who will serve as vice-presidents of the meeting and arrange seats on the platform. This list does not include the Democratic committee, candidates for office-holders, all of whom will also be present on the reception committee to the distinguished visitor.

Heading the procession from the hotel will be the Portsmouth band, which will render a short concert before the meeting. The speaking will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Though his visit to Portsmouth is a political one, Mayor Baker will no doubt be greeted by a representative contingent of Portsmouth's citizenship, who are ever ready to extend a hospitable greeting to a man who has achieved honor and fame in public life, regardless of politics.

SIDEWALK NOTICE

Pursuant to conditions with reference to sidewalks in every section of the city, justifying the great number of complaints, all of which have been of much concern to the executive and other officials, the extent of which has resulted in many personal appeals to individuals and other employers made to have walks laid or repaired.

It is apparent that progress, with reference to the method pursued, is entirely too slow to be of any material benefit, which suggests that the other plans shall, of necessity, be provided to insure these walks being laid and repaired within a reasonable time. To that end Council intends to have the Engineering Department check up every place of property where a sidewalk has yet not been laid or where the same is not in good condition, submitting an estimate for the cost of having or improving them, for which bonds shall be issued to cover the cost of such installation.

Thereafter, at the earliest time weather conditions will permit the ensuing year, these walks will be laid or improved by the city and thus become a charge upon the property that has been so improved. The purpose of this notice is to enable all who so desire to save the cost of issuing these bonds, advertising the work, and all such incidents but are essential to municipal work over the normal cost of such improvements if placed by a private contractor by the property owner. It must be apparent to all that each individual can have this service installed much cheaper than the city can, especially if legislation shall be ordered, bonds advertised and sold before the work can be inaugurated.

Much complaint arises owing to the absence of walks in the region of the Industrial Plants in the eastern section of the city, and other property in the zone of Gallia, Fourth, Eleventh, Twelfth and North Waller streets, as well as in many parts of the western subdivision of the city.

Appeals from the office resulted in much encouragement, being held out to the administration, to the end that one hopes were such that much of this work would be done before the advent of bad weather. I guess, however, that but little in the way of real results have been accomplished.

May I not enlist your immediate service to the extent that the citizens may benefit by the early installation of this public service, to the ultimate end that the city may not be called upon to do any or at least but little of such improvement.

GERMANY CONSENTS

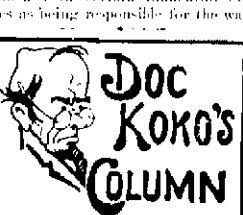

Berlin, Oct. 21. By wireless via Swytter the German government has informed the American embassy that it has no objection to the importation of provisions for Belgian civilians.

Copenhagen, via London, Oct. 21

7:55 a. m. The military correspondent of the Berliner Tagblatt hints that there is a certain amount of anxiety about the situation manifesting itself in Germany. He explains, though, that a decision is likely to come "like a thief in the night" and that it will more probably be on the east front rather than in the west.

"While fresh masses of troops can be brought without hindrance overseas," he says, "they constitute an awkward adversary, although the unity of their handling-off they involved Germany is to be doubted. Germany has still a somewhat hard task which must not be forgotten in waiting for the decision."

Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg, according to the Tagblatt, is being attacked in certain influential circles as being responsible for the war.

OBITUARY

John Caldwell

County Treasurer M. J. Caldwell received a telegram Wednesday morning, containing the sad news of the death of his cousin, John Caldwell which occurred at his home at Burlington Junction, Mo., following a short illness with typhoid fever. The deceased, who left this part of the country 30 years ago to locate in the West, was known as one of the biggest cattle raisers in Missouri, being associated with another brother and his son in raising pedigreed stock. He was a brother of J. B. Caldwell, prominent cattle raiser of Richmond, Mo. county.

William Barnett Hansford

News of the death of William Barnett Hansford who died recently at his home in Somerset, Ky., reached Portsmouth Wednesday. Mr. Hansford, who was a splendid citizen, was the father of E. H. Hansford, editor of the Somerset, Ky. Herald. Mr. Hansford was employed in The Times job office several years ago.

Modern Eye Aids

Actual eye aid comes through the proper fitting of glasses, which from every standpoint we are best able to accomplish. Other than proper examination, the most marked advances have been made in the use of amber and other colored lenses. We should be glad to demonstrate their effect without obligation to you. The Kryptok and Taria lenses are wonderful advances.

Among the many types of mountings we carry you can surely find one more comfortable than your old one.

REV. GILLILAND MAKES A FINE "DRY" SPEECH

In the absence of W. H. Jackson, secretary of the religious work of the S. & W. Y. M. C. A., in Wilmington, the Rev. W. T. Gilliland, pastor of Manly church, delivered the address in the House Defenders' Tent, at Eighth and Lincoln streets Tuesday night.

Having thoroughly familiarized himself with the wet and dry situation and being a most ardent advocate of prohibition, Rev. Gilliland presented a worthy substitute to Mr. Jackson, and for over an hour he ploughed into the various phases of the wet and dry campaign.

E. F. Ridenour acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced Rev. Gilliland, who recently came here from Ashland to succeed Rev. L. I. Hart as pastor of Manly church.

Fifty members of the Ohio-Dry club occupied stage seats and encouraged the meeting with several vocal numbers. This club knows how to sing stirring religious songs, and they injected a lot of enthusiasm into the meeting in the House Defenders' Tent.

"The saloon men go around showing from the house-tops that more liquor is sold in dry territory than in wet. If this is true, then why is it that the liquor interests work so hard to keep counties, states and municipalities wet?" asked Rev. Gilliland.

"This is all tommyrot, this talk that more liquor is sold in dry territory than in wet territory. Take the situation as it is today in Rockford, Ill., the third largest city in the United States. When it voted dry sometime ago the city had 22 saloons, 22 drug stores and 12 distilleries and breweries. Mayor Bennett told the voters that if Rockford voted dry he would see that not a license was issued except to one in Rockford, but the 22 saloons and he made good. Mayor Bennett said he would give $100 to any person who would convert him to any other than the cause of prohibition. Prohibition is a law and will prohibit if it is enforced."

"Then they tell us for every saloon that goes out we will have 10 dry distillers. If this were true I would rather have 100 distillers than one saloon with its crookedness."

"This talk of organized labor being against prohibition is untrue. I find hundreds of strong union men who will vote against the saloon and the liquor traffic in every form."

The speaker then went on to quote John G. Lennon, treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, who said that the open saloon was the laboring man's worst enemy.

"Mind I am not quoting some laboring man; I am using the words of one of the greatest unions in the American Federation of Labor as he has endorsed the labor conditions," said Rev. Gilliland.

This is an age for athletes. Let me tell you a story illustrating this statement. Last year Manager Callahan, of the Chicago White Sox, told outfielder Ping Bodie that if he refrained from drinking during the playing season he would give him a bonus of $600 at the end of the season. With the money in hand and the season's end only two days off, Bodie slipped into a saloon one day and called for a glass of beer. As he was putting it to his mouth, Manager Callahan stepped in.

"That looks like a fine glass of beer," said Callahan.

"Yes," came back Bodie, and with that he drank it.

Well, it ought to be a good drink for it will cost you just $600," said Callahan as he walked out of the saloon.

And Bodie lost this fine bonus because he didn't have the stamina to keep to his contract. And why? Callahan wanted to give Bodie $600 if he kept away from booze? Because he knew that he would be a better man, a better player if he kept away from it."

Rev. Gilliland reviewed the wet and dry fight now in full blast in Scioto county and Ohio.

The speaker then gave a review of the liquor situation in China. He told how the use of opium, a mighty and curse upon China, was effectively stamped out. How the growing poppy was forbidden, and when this law was respected the opium habit was reduced to a minimum in China.

"If they can blot out the opium curse in China by wiping out the poppies, then why can not this great country of our wipe out the liquor traffic by abolishing the saloons, breweries and distilleries? If you voters say so, and I feel that you will say so on your ballots on Tuesday, November 3," asserted Rev. Gilliland.

The speaker has a splendid voice and was heard by everybody. He is an clever orator, and from the applause he received his address was appreciated. Many declared it to be one of the best expositions of the wet and dry situation heard in the big tent.

STUCK IN THE MUD

Dr. William Trempner had a distressing experience trying to drive his automobile through the mud on Gallia pike to the Republican rally at New Boston Tuesday evening. He had driven Mr. Kearns, the Congressional candidate, and his father, Dr. W. D. Trempner, the Senatorial candidate to Pike county during the day, and was striving to get them to Sciotoville for the meeting there in the evening.

After considerable effort, during which he waded over his shoulders in mud looking for the best road, "Bill" landed his passengers in Sciotoville on time, but he left his machine at New Boston, returning home on the street car. He drove it home via Lucasville Wednesday morning.

Police Interrupt
A Night Stroll

L. E. Campbell, an S. & W. engineer, who answered to the name of John Harrison in police court Wednesday was fined $10 and costs for disorderly conduct.

Campbell was arrested on complaint of Jesse Gardner, who claimed to have broken up a clandestine meeting between Campbell and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Gardner-Smith.

Officer Clark and Gardner came upon the couple on the N. & W. railroad tracks Tuesday night. Campbell had purchased several bottles of beer and then went strolling with the woman, who is divorced from her husband, Ed Smith, a one-armed tower-tender at Houston.

Gardner accused the couple that he had exacted a promise from his daughter that she would have nothing further to do with Campbell, who is a married man.

Homer Holliday and son Harry Holliday, were fined $10 and costs each for alleged disorderly conduct. The Hollidays, it developed from the evidence, were on route home from a night game when their dog was attacked by Albert Gibbs' dog. A fierce fight ensued and they went into the Gibbs yard on Front street to separate the dogs. Mrs. Gibbs, who was awakened from her sleep by the noise, also thought to end the fight and dropped a window screen from the second story. The Hollidays resented this as an act of hostility against them and hot words resulted, they arming themselves with bricks while Mrs. Gibbs seized a knife, they claimed.

Thomas Smith, who was caught loitering about the Portsmouth Pressed Brick company's plant, was fined $5.

Joe Stetall failed to appear to answer to a disorderly charge preferred by Clint Saunders, sending word to the court that he was ill.

ORGANIZE

The directors of the W. R. Robe Cycle-Car company held their first meeting Tuesday night and effected a temporary organization by electing Dr. O. W. Robe chairman, and Charles Morgan secretary.

The directorate of this young concern are Dr. O. W. Robe, Charles Morgan, W. R. Robe, Mrs. W. R. Robe and Mrs. Charles Morgan.

The product of the new company will be known as "The Robe." According to one of the members of the company "The Robe" will be the only cycle-car in the world that will have a four cylinder engine, water cool and shaft drive.

The engine has been viewed and inspected by hundreds of mechanics and pronounced one of the smoothest running and most powerful for its size ever constructed.

The car runs smoothly and will keep up its end with regular city cars. The engine was designed by Prof. W. R. Robe, who is a genius of the first magnitude, and under whose supervision the cars will be built. The company faces a most prosperous future, for they have a product that is bound to meet with instant favor and expect to make their first shipment of twelve cars within the next thirty days.

Thomas Smith, who was caught loitering about the Portsmouth Pressed Brick company's plant, was fined $5.

Joe Stetall failed to appear to answer to a disorderly charge preferred by Clint Saunders, sending word to the court that he was ill.

Cincinnati Man Is Robbed On Train

Charles Lozier, aged 34, of Cincinnati, was waylaid and robbed of all his money, amounting to $32 aboard a west-bound C. & O. freight train at Fullerton, Ky., Tuesday night.

Lozier was enroute home from Virginia where he had been working in coal mines. As the train neared Fullerton a negro and two white tramps beat him almost into insensibility, rifled his pockets, then threw him from the train. Lozier in his dazed condition managed to drag himself down the railroad tracks to South Portsmouth. Traveling men who alighted from the midnight eastbound flyer took up a collection for him, raising enough money to pay his railroad fare to Cincinnati.

Lozier appeared at the public safety office in a badly battered state early Wednesday. He was warranted over to Dr. W. W. Smith, the county physician, for medical attention, after which he left for Cincinnati. He gave No. 414 East Second street as his Cincinnati address.

WELL, WELL, PURE WATER
DAY IS AGAIN PUT OFF

A difference of opinion as to the advisability of pumping water into the new reservoir until the several leaks are repaired caused a postponement of operations at the city pumping station until Thursday or Friday.

Only one of the two sets of pumps is ready for service, any way, and the officials in charge concluded it best not to do any more pumping until absolutely certain that everything will move smoothly. A supply of graphite is expected to arrive Tuesday afternoon in time to prove such a superior lubricant that the pumps will now operate in a most satisfactory manner.

Teacher Aiding In Safety First Plan

Mrs. Ella Gable, principal of the Officers' street school, has strongly endorsed the plan of teachers making a practice of reminding their pupils of the great dangers that attend train riding.

Mrs. Gable herself is ever reminding her pupils that they take their lives in their hands by jumping on or off trains or crawling under them and Wednesday morning turned one offender over to the police, the mayor lecturing the boy. Train riding is not only an offense against the statutes, but persons injured in accidents become law in mentality.

Make Hair Grow

Restore Color

Dandruff is a disease that does positive injury to the hair follicles and hair roots. EVERY DAY it is permitted to neglect dandruff and you can afford to be bald JUST A LITTLE LATER ON you cannot afford to neglect dandruff or falling hair for ANOTHER DAY. But don't use any hair tonic without KNOWING FOR YOURSELF just what it contains. The safest way is to either mix your own tonic or go to a druggist whom you know to be reliable and have him mix it for you. An absolutely safe and unquestionably the most efficacious formula you can possibly use in this very simple one: Glycerine, 1-2 ounces; Lavender de Compose, 1-2 drachms; Menthol Crystals, Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour it is ready for use. If you choose, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. Apply at night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger tips. Insist upon this exact formula. If you have your druggist mix it for you, you will have a tonic that you can depend upon for quick and lasting results. It will not only rid your scalp of dandruff and stop your hair from falling, but it will cleanse and beautify the hair to a remarkable degree.

Judge Bannon's Reply

An Answer To The Business Men's League

The Business Men's League, so-called, reply to my letter given upon request, not of the Anti-Saloon League, but in response to Rev. McAfee, who called for it. It was not given on a garbled version of the amendment prepared by the Anti-Saloon League, but on the amendment as published by the authority of the State. Following this charge, the Business Men's League use this language:

"The Home Rule Amendment provides only that no law shall be passed, or be in effect, prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in a territory larger than a municipal corporation or a township."

and that all laws in contravention are repealed. The proposed Home Rule Amendment does not say that, or anything like that. The language is:

"No law shall be passed or be in effect, prohibiting the sale, furnishing or giving away of intoxicating liquors operative in a sub-division of the state which has force within a territory larger than a municipal corporation or a township outside of municipal corporations therein."

The Amendment in that regard is explicit. It operates, if adopted, on all territory larger than a municipal corporation, "or a township outside of municipal corporations therein." Only as to these two places can laws giving the people power to control and prevent the selling, furnishing or giving away of intoxicating liquors operate, namely: First, municipal corporations or, Second, a township having municipal corporations therein. You cannot disregard or strike out the descriptive words, "a township having municipal corporations therein." In one respect the intention of the amendment is plain. It is framed to extend the area and promote the free traffic in intoxicating liquors everywhere throughout the state except in the places stated.

Ask your lawyers whether the Court, if called upon to construe the amendment, will disregard the words in the amendment, a township "having municipal corporations therein."

If townships without qualification were to be included, why not say "territory larger than a municipal corporation or a township," and stop there? The Business Men's League say that under the township law now in force Valley, Porter, Nile, Jefferson and other townships voted dry and are still dry and none of them contain municipal corporations. Of course not, but if this amendment be adopted that law will no longer be in effect, and intoxicating liquors may be sold in every one of the townships named and in all other territory in the state larger than a municipal corporation or a township having municipal corporations therein.

SOAP ON HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF, SCALP GETS DRY HAIR FALLS OUT

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate it and prevent dryness. Bet still use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a Danderine Hair Cleanser. Just take a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt, excessive oil. In a few months you will be amazed, you will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable gloss and lustre.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

EX-LABOR COMMISSIONER ARGUES FOR WET CAUSE

CHAS. H.
WIRMEL

"WE DENY THEM THE RIGHT TO TELL US HOW WE SHALL CONDUCT OURSELVES INsofar AS OUR PERSONAL HABITS ARE CONCERNED."

"NO MAN SHOULD VOTE UPON THIS IMPORTANT QUESTION UNLESS HE HAS THE ISSUES AT STAKE CLEARLY IN MIND."

"IF WALL STREET COULD GET CONTROL OF THE LIQUOR INTERESTS IN THE UNITED STATES THE CRY OF PROHIBITION WOULD CEASE IN 24 HOURS."

"NEVER-UNTIL THE PROHIBITION BUGABOO IS FOREVER SILENCED WILL THE LABORING CLASS OF OHIO COME INTO ITS OWN."

Asserting vehemently that the prohibition agitation which now has the entire state in its grasp was inspired by forces unfriendly to labor so as to put in the background issues of far greater importance to those who toil, Chas. H. Wirmel, of Cincinnati, called upon the laboring men of this state and those friendly to the labor cause to support the Home Rule amendment and vote against the state-wide prohibition amendment at the Home Rule Tent on Tuesday evening.

He charged the moving spirits in the dry organization with being men whose sole object was to divert attention from the crying needs of the laboring men and women of the state, and thus postpone the passage of remedial legislation which was of greater benefit to them than all the prohibition laws that could be placed upon the book.

He met the claim of the dry leaders who professed interest in the well being of the laboring men with a challenge to cite one instance when they stood on their side of an important question. He upbraided them for remaining silent and neutral on such far-reaching questions which had become laws despite their apparent unconcern, such as the workmen's compensation law, the mother's pension law, the child-labor law, and those other laws for which organized labor is now fighting, such as an eight-hour day for women, protection for working men in shops and factories, and betterment of the conditions which are causing thousands to die annually of occupational diseases.

"Their sole interest in the laboring men consists in the attempt to divert them from how they can conduct themselves so far as their personal habits are concerned," Claims Many Drys Oppose Laboring Men.

The openly charged that the hoarse chest of the dry forces is how it affected the laboring men.

constantly replenished by those captains of industry who are the most unfriendly to labor, and who seek to keep the labor movement in a disorganized and chaotic state. Any attempt of the prohibition leaders to respond to the cause of labor would result in the withdrawal of financial assistance from those sources, the speaker declared.

Mr. Wirmel, who is a stationary engineer himself, spoke in behalf of the 50,000 men and women in Ohio who are employed by the firms which the prohibition forces are trying to put out of business, and also pointed out the danger to the laboring men of other volume and hospitality that the profits should thus come to the hands of the people of Portsmouth.

Says Prohibition Is A Bugaboo

He maintained in his audience, composed almost wholly of the laboring class, that never until the prohibition bugaboo was forever silenced would the laboring men and women of Ohio come to their own. So long as they permitted it to be thrust upon them every year or so, just so long would their interests be shoved to the background, the speaker declared.

Talked From Labor's Viewpoint

Mr. Wirmel discussed the subject almost wholly from an economic standpoint, although he spoke on the moral aspects of the question, fairly near the close of his address.

But his main concern was to show it affected the laboring men.

ment, and he made that the paramount theme of his address, the first and only one he will deliver during the campaign.

Handed Jolly To Portsmouth

In the beginning, Mr. Wirmel said:

"I will always have a warm spot in my heart for the good people of Portsmouth, because of the way you treated the delegates to the convention of the Ohio Federation of Labor, held in your city about a year ago. In all the twelve years that I have attended these conventions, we never in the past four years were accorded the to the laboring men of other volume and hospitality that the profits should thus come to the hands of the people of Portsmouth."

He then entered into the discussion of his subject which he declared was an issue of great importance to the farmer, to the business man, to the taxpayer, and last but by no means least, to the man who earns his living by the sweat of his brow.

Voters Should Post Themselves

The important feature of the campaign, Mr. Wirmel said, was to get the voters to familiarize themselves with every phase of the question, so that they could vote intelligently.

"No man should vote on the question unless he has the issues at stake clearly in mind," said he.

"You doubtless have heard the other fellow's argument. We have an argument which we feel sure beats our most favorable case."

He then said that he would not discuss the question of the laboring men's interests.

Drys Would Divert Minds

"I am here to say that the present cry of prohibition reminds me of the old-fashioned 'key-rube' series which have been uttered from time to time to divert our minds from the real issues. It is paramount in order to side-track the more important issues, in which we, as laboring men are interested."

"Have you ever heard one of the dry orators say anything about the remedial legislation for which we have fought in the past and for which we are now fighting?"

"Have you ever heard one of them say he was going to champion the cause of workmen's compensation?"

"Have you ever heard one of them say he was going to favor the enactment of an eight hour day for women?"

"Did you ever hear one of them say that he was going to use his best efforts to give the laboring men and women the necessary protection in the work shops and factories?"

"Did you ever hear one of them deplore the fact that 1,000,000 men and women have been killed and maimed in factories and mills?"

"Did you ever hear one of them say that he was going to champion the cause of thousands dying annually from occupational diseases?"

"You doubtless have heard the other fellow's argument. We have an argument which we feel sure beats our most favorable case."

"All you can hear them say is that 'Prohibition is the answer for all evils.' The best you get out of them when some poor unfortunate laborer falls victim to an accident while at work is that 'Drink did it.'"

"Did you ever consider what speed does in some of the big factories?"

"Do you know that some of the fellows who want to deprive us of the pleasures of our private life are the men who in our factories, exact the last drop of blood and the last pound of flesh in order to give us enormous dividends for the stockholders at the end of the year?"

"Did you know that some of the people who are trying to deprive you of your personal liberty are the same people who were identified with the slaughter of defenseless men, women, and children in the Colorado coal fields this year?"

"Did you know that they are the same people who will not permit the laboring men to organize for mutual protection and benefit in any kind of a labor organization?"

"We are asked to these people to vote for the prohibition amendment. We are asked to vote for the prohibition amendment. We are asked to vote for the prohibition amendment."

Personal Liberty Belongs To All

"The laboring men have the right to conduct our lives as we see fit. We don't want to be controlled by the laboring men. We don't want to be controlled by the laboring men."

As an illustration of how the prohibition amendment was viewed by the laboring men, Mr. Wirmel cited the fact that at the convention of the Ohio Federation of Labor, at which he was a delegate, at least one hundred delegates went on record unanimously as against prohibition and against any candidate who favored prohibition.

Another danger in the prohibition propaganda that was cited was the delay that would be occasioned in the consideration of more important legislation at the coming state legislature.

"Suppose you pass the state-wide prohibition amendment, and suppose we also contemplated the introduction of a law remedying labor conditions."

"Just about the time our law was ready to come out of the committee room, some one would raise the cry of 'Prohibition,' and the legislature would take up that question to the exclusion of all other questions."

"The last Texas legislature devoted three months in deciding what restrictions should be placed on the brewers and saloon keepers and three weeks to the consideration of business and labor legislation."

"The purpose of the dries is to keep up a continual turmoil in the cities and towns that will drown out labor questions. They don't hesitate to go into the home, the church, to come between employer and employee, anything to distract the attention of the public from the needs of labor. It is the old 'key-rube' cry, which they will continue to utter so long as we will stand for it."

"You now have a chance to put a stop to all this turmoil, and forever take the liquor question out of politics. Vote for the Home Rule amendment and put the liquor question where it belongs, in the cities, towns, wards and townships. Then we can vote intelligently and effectively on the liquor question."

"If the people in any city or town don't want the liquor traffic, then let the people rule. But we don't think the people in the rural districts should dictate to the cities and towns how they should conduct their affairs. We don't interfere with them in their affairs. They should concede us the same right."

Adopted Resolution Against Prohibition

Mr. Wirmel then referred to the action of the Ohio Federation of Labor, in convention assembled at Youngstown last week, in passing resolutions favoring the Home Rule amendment. He read the full text of the amendment, which is as follows:

"Be it resolved, that the Ohio State Federation of Labor, in convention assembled, again declares against prohibition and fully approves the action of the executive board in its reiteration of the declaration of the Ohio State Federation of Labor in favor of the Home Rule in the cities, municipalities, and townships, in the sale of liquor."

This resolution, Mr. Wirmel declared, was not prompted on moral or on religious grounds, but strictly as an economic proposition, a real "bread and butter" proposition.

He said the convention recognized that 50,000 men and women earned a livelihood from the liquor business and kindred interests. It also recognized, he continued, that if this went dry, these 50,000 men and women would be thrown upon an already overcrowded labor market. It recognized the fact that $1,000,000 in weekly wages paid out to these 50,000 would no longer find their way through the ordinary channels of trade. It recognized the fact, that like the majority of the laboring men of the state, those people had devoted the greater part of their lives to perfecting themselves for the particular work in which they were engaged, and would be unprepared for other kind of work.

Quoted From Statistics

Statistics, gleaned while he was a member of the state labor commission, proved that the best wages and best working conditions were obtained by those who were employed in that particular industry which the reformers wanted to wipe out of existence.

This brought him up to one of the most sensational utterances of his entire address, which was due to the fact that Wall Street had never been able to corner the liquor industry.

He cited that in Cincinnati, his own town, twenty breweries are operated, each separately managed, under different ownerships, and with separate boards of directors.

"If Wall Street could get control of the liquor interests in the United States, the cry of Prohibition would cease within 24 hours. The reformers' moral rhetoric would vanish," said he.

Talked From Moral Standpoint

Mr. Wirmel then discussed the matter briefly from a moral standpoint, calling attention to the fact that the opposition continually deplores the fact that tolerance of liquor traffic is the cause of loss of morals.

He quoted at length from a recent article in Hampton's Magazine, which referred to conditions in Maine, a dry state, as most deplorable, the article stating that thousands of boys and girls were employed as innocent agents in the illicit sale of whiskey and strong drink.

In closing, Mr. Wirmel urged the voters of Portsmouth to follow in the footsteps of the voters of Texas, who repudiated prohibition by a majority of 47,000, and the voters of Alabama, who refused to renege a Congressional pledge to private life a Congressman, also candidate for United States Senator, who spent twenty-six days of the year in Congress were Referring to his own craft, the stationary engineers, Mr. Wirmel stated that the stationary engineers employed by the brewers and liquor interests were the best paid in the state, receiving a minimum wage of $23 per week (an eight hour day, while those in other concerns were glad to get $18 a week for a twelve hour day. He also stated that their working conditions were better, and that they received not only better wages, but better treatment at the hands of their employers.

ing his constituents, and the balance of the time, roaming over other states telling the people what they should eat and drink.

Mr. Wirmel stated Tuesday evening that his speech at Portsmouth was the first and only speech he will deliver during the campaign. He is the holder of a high office in the stationary engineers' union, the duties of which occupy practically his entire time. He came here because of his personal friendship for the local leaders of the Labor Home Rule League.

Introduced By Pat Whalen

Mr. Wirmel was introduced by Pat Whalen, a local machanic, who demonstrated that he was as good at home on the platform as he is in the machine shop. Briefly Mr. Whalen outlined the principles of the State County Labor Home Rule League, which he said was composed of sixty delegates from the majority of the crafts affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. He said they were drawn into the fight because of the menace to labor which the prohibition amendment threatened.

The River City band rendered an enjoyable concert prior to the meeting, and also marched from the extreme west end of the city to the tent, advising the meeting.
